EMBARGO LIFTED ON ALL CHICAGO STOCK SHIPMENTS

SHIPPERS MUST FILE AFFIDAVIT CONCERNING STOCK

ORDER OF GOVERNMENT BUREAU THAT ONLY AFFECTED ANIMALS OF A HERD SHALL BE KILLED CONTINUES TO BRING PROTESTS FROM ALL CONNECTED WITH THE INDUSTRY—"WILL REDUCE THE LIVESTOCK IN U. S. BY 25 PER CENT."

Chicago, Nov. 13.—An order lifting the embargo on livestock shipments to Chicago was issued today by the state board of livestock commissioners. Railroads were notified they could accept shipments to be delivered in Chicago Sunday at midnight, when the Union Stock Yards, under quarantine because of the foot and mouth disease, will be re-opened. All shippers must file with transportation companies an affidavit that the stock shipped are not affected with and have not been exposed to the malady.

The new instructions of the bureau of animal industry that only the affected animals of a herd should be killed continued to bring protests from persons prominent in nearly every branch of the industry.

Thomas E. Wilson, president of Morris and Co., said that temporizing with the disease would "immediately reduce the livestock in the United States by twenty-five per cent." F. A. White, director of Armour and Co., asserted he did not believe the American people wanted to run the risk of the infection of their meat supply.

The announcement of the bureau of animal industry that owing to a shortage of funds a maximum of $200, would be paid to farmers whose infected stock was killed, resulted in a plan by Dr. S. E. Bennett, chief of the federal inspectors at the yards, by which the farmers may some day receive a greater amount.

He ordered printed a large number of conditional promisory notes which inspectors will issue to farmers whose animals are condemned. They read:

"I hereby agree to accept as compensation in full from the United States government, in the event that congress appropriates funds out of which payments can be made, $ . . . , which is fifty per cent of the valuation of all animals destroyed on account of the existence of foot and mouth disease."

Shortage of Available Funds.

Washington, Nov. 13.—Shortage of available funds for the campaign against the widespread livestock foot and mouth disease epidemic was the subject of long conferences today between Secretary Houston and other officials of the department of agriculture. Later it was said a statement on the subject would be issued tomorrow.

Officials fear that unless some means can be devised to make more money available immediately the department will be seriously hampered in its work of eradicating the disease. The stage already has been reached where the department will have to husband what funds it now has on hand.

Orders were issued today that not more than $200 worth of cattle in a herd be slaughtered without special authorization from the department unless the owner of the herd agreed that payment should be contingent upon congress appropriating the money.

The question has been raised as to whether available funds appropriated for other purposes may be diverged to fight the foot and mouth disease. The legal phases of this question were gone into carefully today, but no decision was announced.

Hay Quarantine Modified.

The quarantine against hay was modified by the department today so as to provide that hay cut before August 1, last, may be shipped in interstate commerce without disinfection if bailed prior to November 1. The previous regulations provided that hay could be shipped without disinfection provided it was cut and bailed prior to August 1. The National Hay association had urged that the quarantine be modified because of a threatened shortage of hay.

Disease in Knox County.

Galesburg, Ill., Nov. 13.—Cases of foot and mouth disease were discovered today in Knox county, the affected animals all being hogs. Officials believe the disease here was caused by infected hog cholera serum. Farms of Ambrose Dikeman, Richard Ragsdale and Mrs. William Ware were imediately quarantined and the authorities hope to confine the disease to the southeastern section of the county.

Infected Cattle at Sidell.

Danville, Ill., Nov. 13.—Dr. W. S. Newman, federal inspector, today examined thirty-five steers owned by P. L. Baum, of Sidell, this county, found they were infected with the hoof and mouth disease and ordered them killed. Other farms in the neighborhood are under quarantine but no symptoms of the disease have been found outside the Baum herd.

War News Summarized

Russia has driven the Austrians out of the towns of Tarnow, Jaslo, and Krosno in Galicia and the Austrians probably now are retreating toward the Carpathians mountains.

The enemy has marched into Tarnow, Jaslo and Krosno, is the cryptic style in which Vienna officially announces this reverse to her arms. Petragrad merely announces the taking of Krosno with heavy losses to the Austrian read guard. Nothing is said of the other two towns in the Russian official report.

On the western battlefront the allies are said to have retaken Dixmude from the Germans. This report is unofficial and has not been confirmed by either Paris or London. Fighting in the vicinity of Dixmude and also around Ypres continues to be extremely violent although it has slackened somewhat as compared with previous days.

In the western zone both the allies and the Germans make claims to successes at various points. These claims however, do not carry with them announcements of decisive victories at any point. The French say they have progressed to the south of Bixschoote, retaken a village east of Ypres and repulsed a German offensive to the south of Ypres.

The Germans say their marines at Nieuport inflicted heavy losses on the allies and that they captured 700 prisoners, that 1,100 allies were taken captive at Ypres and that heavy casualties were inflicted by repulsing attacks around Soissons.

That big engagements already are in progress or are about to begin in the east all the way from the northeastern part of east Prussia to the eastern point of Galicia seems evident from the troop dispositions of the Germans and the Russians. Some battles already have taken place in the northeast where the Germans are making preparations to contest vigorously any Russian attempt to gain a foothold in Eastern Prussia.

The Austrians say they have entirely cleared their territory of the Servian enemy.

A Turkish report coming by way of Berlin says the Russians are retreating all along the entire battlefront hard pressed by the Turkish army on all sides.

That huge sums of money will be necessary to prosecute the war is indicated by the British government's notification that it will request parliament to vote a credit of $1,125,000,000 for expenses up to March 31. The French supplementary credit for the month of November amounts to $182,154,504 or a daily average of $6,000,000.

BELGIUM STUDENTS AND PROFESSORS WELCOMED HERE

Men Whose Work Has Been Interrupted by War Will be Able to Enjoy Privileges of American Institutions Free.

Washington, Nov. 13.—Plans for the bringing to America of many of the students and professors whose work has been interrupted by the destruction of universities, musgums and libraries in Belgium were completed tonight by a local committee headed by Dr. N. Monroe Hopkins.

Free enjoyment of the privileges of American institutions pending the reconstruction of Belgium's educational system is proposed. Assurances of support already have been received from several universities for the instruction of Belgium students.

It is proposed to raise a fund at once to defray the traveling expenses of the students to and from Belgium and the costs of residence in this country.

UNSUCCESSFUL IN COMPLETING $135,000,000 COTTON LOAN FUND

Officials Hope New England and Philadelphia Bankers Will Contribute Portion Allotted to Them.

Washington, Nov. 13.—Although strong efforts have been made in the last few days to complete the $135,000,000 cotton loan fund, so far they have been unsuccessful. It was said tonight that much depended upon bankers in Boston and Philadelphia and that their participation would insure the raising of $96,000,000 in the non-cotton producting states. This would be within $40,000,000 of the amount required from these states.

Officials were hopeful that the New England and Philadelphia bankers would contribute the portion allotted to them and thought they would be able to announce the completion of the subscription list tomorrow or Monday.

LONE BANDIT ARRESTED.

St. Louis, Nov. 13.—A lone bandit entered the Gravois Bank in St. Louis county late this afternoon and after locking the cashier and his assistant in the vault robbed the cash drawers of $1,600. He was arrested before he could make his get-away.

BLOOMINGTON CHOSEN.

Danville, Ill., Nov. 13—At the closing session of the Central Illinois Lutheran Teachers' Association today, Bloomington was chosen for the meeting place next year.

BUREAU REPORT SHOWS COUNTRY'S ENORMOUS GROWTH

POPULATION OF U.S. HAS MORE THAN QUADRUPLED SINCE 1850

REPORT ISSUED BY BUREAU OF FOREIGN AND DOMESTIC COMMERCE GIVES INTERESTING COMPARATIVE STATEMENTS SHOWING RAPID GROWTH AND EXPANSION OF OUR COUNTRY.

Washington, Nov. 13.—Enormous growth of the United States during the last half century was shown in a report issued today by the Bureau of foreign and domestic commerce. While the report is for the period 1899-1914, the meagre statistics for the first half of the century makes them comparatively unimportant. After pointing out that since 1850 the population of the country has more than quadrupled, being now more than 100,000,000 the report says:

"In the same period, however, foreign commerce has grown from $318,000,000 to $4,259,000,000 and the per capita value of exports from $16.86 to $23.27.

National wealth has increased from seven billion dollars in 1870 to approximately $140,000,000,000; money in circulation from $279000,000 to $3,419,000,000; and New York bank clearings from approximately $5,000,000,000 to over $98,000,000,000, while for the entire country bank clearings have grown from $52,000,000,000 in 1887 the earliest year for which figures are available, to $174,000,000,000 in 1913.

Improved Social Conditions.

"Evidences of improved social conditions among the people are also found in the statistical record. For example 19,000,000 children are now enrolled in public schools and about 200,000 students in colleges and other higher institutions of learning and the total expenditures on behalf of education now approximate $500,000,000 a year, the result being a rapid increase in general intelligence and a marked decrease of illiteracy. Over 22,000 newspapers and periodicals are disseminating information among the people and the report shows a steady growth in the number of libraries in the country. In 1850 depositors in savings banks were 251,000 in number; today the number is 11,000,000 with deposits, exclusive of those in other savings institutions, aggregating 4 3-4 billion dollars or more than 100 times as much as at the middle of the last century.

Increased Value of Land.

"Increased activity on the farms, in the factories and in the great transportation industries has also developed during the last half century, the value of farms and farm property increased from four billion dollars in 1850 to 41 billion in 1910; the value of manufacturers from one billion to over 20 billion; and the number of miles of railway in operation from 9,021 in 1850 to 258,033 in 1912. The last quarter century the number of passengers carried has increased from 492,000,000 to 1,004,000,000 and the volume of freight handled from 632,000,000 to 1,845,000,000 short tons. Nearly twenty billion pieces of out going mail matter are handled annually by the postoffice department which disbursed in this important public service last year $262,000,000 or $2.70 per capita."

TOWARD RESUMPTION OF REGULAR BUSINESS

Good Progress Noted in General Financial Situation.

New York, Nov. 13.—Decided progress toward the resumption of regular business was noted in the general financial situation today. Announcement that the cotton exchange is to re-open for free and unrestricted trading next Monday was followed by intimations from high banking quarters of the probable reopening of the stock exchange at the beginning of the new year. Incidentally, memberships on both exchanges were sold today at prices materially higher than those quoted a few weeks ago.

There were other distinct indications of improvement, including further heavy retirements of emergency currency, additional advances in most of the bonds and stocks quoted by the several markets now in operation and an advance in the price of copper metal.

SMALLPOX IN MILAN.

Decatur, Ill., Nov. 13.—Three cases of smallpox have been discovered in Milan township southeast of Decatur. Two children who had the disease recently attended school while they were ill and many persons have visited in the homes where the disease now is and it is believed that a score or omre families are exposed. The district school has been closed.

SUFFRAGETTES DECIDE QUESTIONS BEARING ON NEXT CAMPAIGN

Will Not Limit Efforts For Passage of Bristow-Mondell Amendment and Will Heed Wishes of State Associations Regarding Candidates.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 13.—By a vote of almost two to one, the convention of the National American Women Suffrage Association here late today decided that its work before congress during the coming year shall not be limited to efforts for passage of the Bristow-Mondell suffrage amendment to the federal constitution. In an earlier session declared by a decisive majority that its congressional committee shall not conduct campaigns against candidates in any state without consent of the suffrage associations in that state.

The action of the association on these matters settled two of the most important questions before the present convention. Each had given rise to much division of opinion among suffragists during the last few months and each has a significant bearing on plans for next year's campaign.

The debate on both issues was decidedly spirited and at times was characterized by factional bitterness.

Attend Mass Meeting.

Tonight the delegates attended a mass meeting under the auspices of the National Men's League for woman suffrage. James Lees Laidlaw, presided; Senator Luke Lee of Tennessee, and men and women suffragists from several states were speakers.

Consideration of the legislative measures was fixed as a special order of business in the afternoon session. Much of the opposition to the administration plan of working before congress for other measures besides the Bristow-Mondell resolution came from the "state's rights" suffragists.

Mrs. Harriett Stanton Blatch of New York, one of the leading champions of the one legislative measure plan, presented the initial motion "that the Shafroth amendment be not preceded with by the national association in the next session of congress."

A substitute motion offered immediately by Mrs. Raymond Brown of New York, declared that "it is the sense of the convention that the policy of the national association shall be to support by every means within its power in the future as the past the amendment known as the Susan B. Anthony amendment and further that we support such other legislation as the national board may authorize and initiate to the end that the Susan B. Anthony resolution may become law."

Mrs. Barton Jenks of Rhode Island, moved to strike out the last sentence of Mrs. Brown's substitute. Immediately a dozen women were on their feet shouting for recognition. Mrs. Jane Addams, who presided, recognized Mrs. George W. Bass of Chicago, and the latter vigorously protested against limiting the association's efforts to one measure.

Miss Kate M. Gordon of New Orleans, president of the Southern States Suffrage Association, favored Mrs. Jenks' motion, declaring she did not favor allowing the national board too great powers in initiating legislation.

Argument in behalf of the Shafroth resolution was made by Mrs. Antoinette Funk of Chicago, a member of the congressional committee. She appealed to the delegates not to tie the hands of the committee.

EXECUTIVE LIMITATIONS TEND TO IMPEDE EFFICIENCY

State Executives Believe They Should Have Right to Remove Subordinate State Officers.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 13.—Complaint that governors as a rule do not have sufficient power to remove subordinate officers and were therefore subject to adverse criticism because of the acts of underlings was voiced today at the governors' conference by Governor Elias A. Ammons of Colorado and other state executives.

Governor Ammons declared that recent industrial difficulties in Colorado ran the state deeply into debt, destroyed much property and cost more than 200 lives all because other state officers were not amenable to the desires of the governor and defied his orders.

In a general discussion of the subject, it was the concensus that executive limitations impeded efficiency and tended to create situations that embarrassed the state as to its reputation in sister commonwealths.

Governors Joseph M. Carey of Wyoming, William Spry of Utah and S. V. Stewart of Montana protested against what they termed lax methods of regulating shipments of tuberculosis cattle. Governor Carey specifically attacked Illinois on this score. Governor E. F. Dunne of Illinois said that every effort was made by his state to prevent exportation of diseased animals, the veterinary inspectors being under civil service.

PACKEY TO FIGHT IN NEW YORK

Chicago, Nov. 13.—A ten-round match between Packey McFarland and Freddie Welsh for the lightweight championship of the world, to be held at New York probably in January, was practically agreed upon here today.

U. S. TROOPS WILL LEAVE VERA CRUZ NOVEMBER 23RD.

DATE DEFINITELY FIXED FOR AMERICAN EVACUATION

PRIESTS AND NUNS, WHO SOUGHT REFUGE IN MEXICAN PORT UNDER PROTECTION OF AMERICANS ARE NOW ON THEIR WAY TO THIS COUNTRY.

Washington, Nov. 13—Monday, November 23, was fixed tonight as the date for the evacuation of Vera Cruz by the American forces.

Secretary Bryan issued this announcement:

"Both General Carranza and the convention at Aguas Calientes having given the assurances and guarantees we requested, it is the purpose of the administration to withdraw the troops of the United States from Vera Cruz on Monday, the twenty-third of November.

"All the persons therefore whose personal safety this government has made itself responsible for have left the city. The priests and nuns who had taken refuge there and for whose safety, fears were entertained, are now on their way to this country."

This statement was given out after a long conference between Mr. Bryan and President Wilson. It apparently was received with surprise in some official quarters The general understanding has been that the evacuation might be delayed indefinitely pending reports upon the assignment of the various Mexican chiefs in the latest civil war now in progress.

Details Made Public Today.

Secretary Bryan declined to add to the formal announcement, saying details would be made public by the war department tomorrow. Secretary Garrison had nothing to say and to just what authority the port of Vera Cruz would be delivered was not made plain. It has been assumed however, that as the United States throughout the Mexican difficulties has dealt with the defacto authorities in territory involved the city would be turned over to an agent of Gen. Carranza, probably Gen. Candido Aguilar, commanding the constitutionalist forces in the state of Vera Cruz.

As far as is known, there has been no final decision as to when and whom the more than a million dollars of Mexican moneys now held by the United States shall be paid.

Mr. Bryan's statement gave the first news of the removal of the priests and nuns from Vera Cruz. With their departure, the only persons other than soldiers, marines and officials left in the Mexican port with a claim upon the United States for personal protection are Mexicans who have been in the employ of the Americans. Assurance that these men would not be punished was one of the conditions of evacuation to which both the warring factions agreed.

Villa Takes Offensive.

General Villa already has taken the offensive against Gen. Carranza, according to official advice reaching the United States government today.

Villa's plan of campaign, the first stroke of which was accomplished in the occupation of the city of San Luis Potosi calls for an immediate attack on Tampico, second in importance to Vera Cruz as a seaport and base from which munitions of war can be imported.

In preparation for the attack the Washington government already is getting ready to take American refugees aboard ships lying in the Panuco river.

With San Luis Potosi in its possession the Villa forces will move eastward along the railroad at Tampico.

Moving southward Villa's army will come in contact with Gen. Carranza's men at Queretaro though there are unconfirmed reports that General Gonzales division commander at that point, may remain loyal to the convention.

Preparing for Battle.

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 13.—Preparations were under way today for the first battle of the new Mexican revolution or the factional split of the constitutionalist revolution which has plunged Mexico into renewed warfare. Four years ago this month the Madero revolution was begun against the long powerful Diaz dictatorship.

General Villa, chief commander of the Aguas Calientes convention forces, was reported as moving his troops to meet those of Gen. Pablo Gonzales, the Carranza commander who probably resist first at Queretaro City, a dominant position in central Mexico and an historic battlefield of many revolutions and invasions. Only minor engagements have been reported so far.

General Alvaro Obregon, who has assumed the position of commander in chief of the Carranza troops has begun organization among those leaders who remained loyal to the "first chief." Official messages tonight from Mexico City said that Obregon had named Gen. Ramon Iturbe as chief of the forces in lower California, Sinola and Southern Sonora. Gen. Benjamin Hill, now defending Naco, has been chief in northern Sonora.

Enrique C. Llorente, named emissary for the convention to Washington arrived here today. He will visit San Francisco before going east.

WIFE OF PRESIDENT OF ILLINOIS UNIVERSITY DIES IN CHICAGO

Mrs. Margaret James Dies at Sanitarium Where She Has Been a Patient For Several Weeks.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Mrs. Margaret James, wife of President Edmund J. James of the University of Illinois, died here this evening at a sanitarium.

She had been a patient there for several weeks and it became certain a few days ago that she could not recover.

Mrs. James, whose maiden name was Lange, was born near Halle, Germany, her father being a chaplain in the Prussian army. President James met her while he was a student at the University of Halle. She came to America and married August 22, 1879 when President James was principal of the model high school in the Illinois state normal school at Bloomington.

No Outward Signs of Mourning.

Champaign, Nov. 13.—At the request of President James news of the death of his wife at Chicago was not given out and meetings of footers and alumni at the opening of the annual home-coming at the University of Illinois went on. He urged that the athletic and other entertainments proceed without reference to his loss. As a result there will be no outward signs of mourning tomorrow when the University of Chicago eleven plays here in the big game of the season.

MAY ATTEMPT TO LAY BLAME ON DEAD MAN

Siegel Attorneys May Place Responsibility on the Late Frank E. Vogel.

Geneseo, N. Y., Nov. 13.—Questions put to witnesses today in the trial of Henry Siegel, bankrupt banker and merchant, charged with grand larceny, indicated that his lawyers will try to show, as one line of defense, that the alleged conspiracy to defraud, if any existed, was directed by Frank E. Vogel, Mr. Siegel's dead partner.

Frank L. Champion, cashier of the defunct Siegel private bank, testifying in regard to loans made by the bank to the Siegel-Vogel enterprises, swore that instructions in regard to them came either from Vogel or Oscar A. Prall, former treasurer of the Siegel Fourteenth Street store in New York. Mr. Prall it developed today, will not be a witness for the state.

SCOTT SELECTED BY PRESIDENT TO SUCCEED WOTHERSPOON

Brigadier General Hugh Scott to be Chief of Staff of U. S. Army next Monday.

Washington, Nov. 13.—Brigadier General Hugh Scott was selected by President Wilson today to be chief of staff of the United States army upon the retirement next Monday of Major General Wotherspoon.

The vacancy of Major General created by General Wotherspoon's retirement will be filled by the nomination of Brigadier General Frederick F. Funston, now in command at Vera Cruz.

Brigadier General Tasker H. Bliss will become chief of the mobile army division and upon the retirement of Major General Murray on April 29, 1915, General Scott will be appointed a major general.

Secretary Garrison making these announcements after a lengthy conference with the president said for the present General Funston would remain at Vera Cruz.

WHO PLACED THE MINES?

U. S. Government Seeks to Know Who Placed Mines in North Sea.

Washington, Nov. 13.—An effort is being made by the United States government to ascertain officially who is responsible for the placing of mines in the North Sea. This is one result of representations made to the state department by the governments of Denmark, Holland, Sweden and Norway that their maritime commerce with the United States has been paralyzed by the placing of mines outside of territorial waters in violation of The Hague treaties.

The United States was asked to join with these governments in an effort to have the warring European powers abate this danger to navigation. Whether it will do so or not is still under consideration but meanwhile the inquiry is being made to determine the responsibility for the mine laying and to what governments any representations on the subject should be addressed.

FEDERAL TROOPS AID UNITED STATES MARSHAL.

Line Streets in Hartford While Marshal Arrests Miners.

Prairie Creek, Ark., Nov. 13.—Government troops figured actively in the Hartford Valley mining troubles for the first time late today when Troop D, Fifth Cavalry, under Captain Tyler, lined the street in Hartford while Deputy United States Marshall Tom Black arrested three miners. The men were John and Frank Wasseit and Frank Crossley, all charged with conspiracy to violate the federal court's orders in connection with the riots at the Bache-Denman mine Number Four, July 17.

The men were taken to Fort Smith by automobile where they were placed in jail. They will be arraigned tomorrow.

TREMENDOUS FIGHT IS DEVELOPING IN EASTERN PRUSSIA

RUSS VIGOROUSLY PUSHING GREAT ENVELOPING MOVE

CZAR'S TROOPS ENGAGED WITH GERMANS ALONG FRONT OF 150 MILES—UNOFFICIAL REPORT FROM FRANCE ASSERTS GERMANS HAVE AGAIN LOST DIXMUDE.—ENGLAND LEARNING COST OF WAR.

London, Nov. 13.—While the battle in West Flanders continues to hold public attention because of the desperate character of the fighting, the numbers of men engaged and the territory at stake, military men now look upon East Prussia as the center of gravity of the war.

In the latter field of operations a tremendous battle is developing. The Russians are pushing vigorously a great enveloping movement. They are engaged with the Germans along a wide curve of 150 miles from Stalluponen, in the northeast, through Goldap and Kruglanken, which is well within the tangle of lakes, down to Soldau in the southwest. Military observers say the Germans apparently have checked their retreat in Poland and by counter-attacks are endeavoring to create a diversion. They say, however, that the Russians are not to be turned from their plan which is believed to be in an attack on Danzig. They argue that the Germans either must allow East Prussia to be overrun a second time or bring up reinforcements and that they can hardly weaken their army along the Polish frontier for that would leave Posen and Silesia open to invasion. The allies, naturally, are hoping an effort will be made to relieve East Prussia at a sacrifice to the German armies in Belgium and France.

Germans Can Move Faster.

In any fighting in their own country, the Germans will have the advantage over the Russians as they have a network of strategic railways to move their troops quickly and they use motors to a larger extent than their opponents. Military men are watching operations in this region with deepest interest.

In West Flanders the Germans do not seem to have improved their position to any marked extent. In fact an unofficial report from the north of France tonight says they have again lost Dixmude which they took last Tuesday, that their attempts to break down the British resistance around Ypres have failed and that their attack in the vicinity of La Bassee has met with no greater success.

The German official report again says the German attacks are progressing and records the capture of some prisoners. On the other hand the French official communication declares that all German attacks have been repulsed and that an advance has been made by the allies nearly everywhere.

Servian Resistance Broken.

Vienna admits the Austrians have evacuated eastern Galicia but as an offset to this says the Servian resistance has been broken and the Austrians have crossed the Danube, driving the Servians back into their own country. Vienna also reports that the Austrians now have turned their attention to the Montenegrins and are endeavoring to force them back. According to a Montenegrin report they have failed. Accounts from this part of the world are so contradictory, however, that the only thing clear is that the Austrians, by sending up reinforcements, have virtually cleared their country of the enemy.

England Learning Cost of War.

England is beginning to learn the cost of the European war. A white paper issued today shows that the government intends to ask parliament for $1,125,000,000 which, with the $500,000,000 voted at the last session is expected to be Great Britain's bill for the financial year ending March 31. Of this sum however, a small part has been loaned to Belgium and Servia, and some will be used to assist the Dominions and the allies to make their financial arrangements.

A portion of the money also will be required for the additional million men who are to be enlisted and who will bring the England regular army up to 2,186,000. These figures do not include the territorials who number nearly 600,000.

Those Shopping Days.

Although the weather is so fair and mild, a glance at the calendar will convince that rapidly indeed the year of 1914 is drawing to its close and there remain just thirty four more days for Christmas shopping. The past decade the newspapers of the country have aided largely in a campaign to bring about early Christmas shopping. The agitation too has brought about good results and with passing years there has been evident more and more a disposition on the part of the public to buy their gifts early.

Those who have followed the plan have found its benefits. The early buyer always gets the best selection and there is a vast amount of satisfaction in looking back when the day before Christmas arrives and realizing that everything needful for the day has been purchased and that there is nothing to worry about, no mad rushing to buy gifts. Then there is that other great consideration early buying is a great aid to those who work in the stores. The weeks before Christmas are always busy ones and with the nearer approach of the holiday sales people in general are nervous and worn. Only the eleventh hour shoppers add to their cares.

A Municipal Tree Perhaps.

There is a possibility that Jacksonville may have a municipal Christmas tree erected in Central park or some other suitable location as the matter is being discussed quite freely. Municipal trees in a number of other cities last year were successful in a marked degree and were sources of pleasure to countless thousands who were not able to have even small trees of their own. The brilliantly lighted trees were kept on display for a number of nights at the Christmas time and their radiance is recorded to have shed abroad a vast amount of real Christmas spirit. Presents have been distributed from these trees to thousands of boys and girls but a still larger number have found pleasure in the trees themselves.

While some Jacksonville people are talking about a tree of this kind there are others who believe that this year a better plan would be to spend the money which such a tree would cost in securing practical and needed gifts like shoes and caps and clothing. They argue that while the beauty of a dazzling Christmas tree does give pleasure to the children and is largely effective in creating the Christmas spirit among the "grown-ups", that this year while business conditions are quiet and many people are unemployed that a simple open handed giving of things to eat and wear and use will mean the "greatest good to the greatest number."

Prepared the Way.

W. M. Trotter, the colored man who headed the delegation which waited on President Wilson to protest against the segregation of blacks and whites in government offices is a Democrat and held office under a former administration. A well known Jacksonville colored citizen observed yesterday that since Groves and a large number of his following in the east had been loud in their support of President Wilson's candidacy that they had nobody but themselves to thank for the segregation order. Segregation seems by the way to furnish further proof that "the south is in the saddle" in government affairs.

FOUR SCORE YEARS.

In July, 1910, Dr. A. B. Morey, having completed a ministry of fifty years, resigned from the pastorate of State Street Presbyterian church, announcing to his parishoners that he did not feel equal to the task of performing all the duties which press upon the church of today.

That was four years ago. Dr. Morey was seventy-six years of age then and Friday he passed his eightieth birthday. To sum up his work in common phraseology, "his has been a long and useful life." It is not given to many men to reach the goal of eighty years and still maintain clearness of brain and strength of body, but Dr. Morey today is as young as many men are at fifty. His eye is undimmed, his step is elastic, his mental vision is unimpaired and only his spirit seems mellower, as the days go by, if that be possible.

There was once a "shut in" who lived in Jacksonville. Flowers grew all about the window of his room and always when he looked out upon the world it was through a garden of flowers. Dr. Morey is not a "shut in", but he looks out upon the world "through a garden of flowers" and sees always the things that are good and beautiful and true. His first church was at Franklin, Ind., where he served ten years. Then he went to the Fifth church at Cincinnati, and in 1884 was called to Jacksonville. His services as a pastor ended in 1910, but his work by no means closed with his active ministry. Today by his daily present life, by his past, he ministers to all Jacksonville, a courteous, scholarly, Christian man of deep, sincere and broad gauged piety.

ALASKAN GOVERNOR SUBMITS ANNUAL REPORT

GOV. STRONG POINTS OPTIMISTIC PICTURES OF ALASKA'S FUTURE.

Report Urges Government to Exercise Closer Supervision for the Conservation of Territory's Wealth of Fisheries and Declares Help is Needed to Stamp Out Disease Among the Natives.

Washington, D. C., November 13.—With an optimistic picture of Alaska's future, Governor J. F. A. Strong in his annual report submitted today to Secretary Lane, urged that the government exercise closer supervision for the conservation of the territory's wealth of fisheries, pointed out the need for the construction of a system of wagon roads and trails to supplement government railroads and declared means must be taken to stamp out disease among the native population.

"With the promise that the future holds," said Gov. Strong, "and the exact knowledge of the extent and variety of the great mineral and other resources of Alaska, coupled with the new broad policy of development which the government has inaugurated, Alaska, it is confidently believed, will hereafter occupy an important place in the mining, industrial and economic history of the United States."

It is estimated that there are now 39,000 white people in the territory, an increase of 3,000 over last year's estimate. The total value of the 1913 mineral output was $19,470,336, and the total value of the products of the Alaskan fisheries was $15,739,068. Both showed some declines from the preceding year. The territory's commerce in the last fiscal year showed exports of more than $61,000,000—a decrease because of lesser gold production, while the United States sold merchandise worth $21,929,460 to the territory.

Alaska's mineral resources, Governor Strong said, awaited development to restore some of the foreign supplies cut off by the European war. Lack of an adequate coal supply, he said, had retarded industrial development. Congress recently passed a leasing bill to open the coal fields in the far northern territory.

"Alaska's copper production," said Governor Strong, "is now important and promises to increase largely within the coming years. Given a supply of coke which cannot now be had at prices which make it available for industrial use, the copper industry would be greatly stimulated by the erection of smelters for the treatment of the ores."

Agricultural Possibilities

The governor said that the agricultural possibilities of the territory are begining to be appreciated. There are probably 50,000,000 acres of land suitable for agricultural purposes, he said, and millions of acres adapted for cattle raising and dairying. Outlining other sources of natural riches in minerals and forests, the Governor said the territory must present an inviting field for the home seeker, for capital and for labor, for men of brain and brawn such as have caused the great west to bloom and blossom."

"The construction of railroads by the ogvernment," the governor added, "will be a means of opening to development a vast extent of territory now practically inaccessible, but which is known to possess great possibilities from a mineral and agricultural point of view. I wish to emphasize here, however, that supplementary to railroads, and as producers of added tonnage for railroad transportation, there should be a largely increased appropriation by Congress for the construction and maintenance of new roads and trails."

Health conditions among the white people of Alaska said Governor Strong, continue to be excellent. "Among the native population, however, diseases of various kinds are wiedspread, this being especially true in remote sections, in some parts of southwestern Alaska and the eastern shore of Bering Sea where such things as sanitation and hygiene are unknown," he added. "Tuberculosis is the principal disease, and there is no doubt that if not eradicated, in the near future, it will exterminate the natives well within the present century."

Governor Strong said that during the summer, the Rev. J. H. Condit, an Alaskan missionary visited native villages of southwestern Alaska and the eastern coast of Bering Sea.

Native Conditions "Horrible."

"He described conditions among the natives in those sections as little short of horrible," the governor said "Disease, suffering and death are everywhere apparent, neither age nor sex being exempt. Sanitation and hygiene in any form are absolutely unknown; little medical relief can be obtained, nor are there hospitals to care for the sick and diseased. Dr. Condit found children four and five years old who had never learned to walk; they were victims of disease and neglect, of hunger, dirt and cold."

Missionary societies could not cope with those conditions, Governor Strong said. He urged the establishment of well-equipped hospitals and the education of the native in sanitation and hygiene.

The fisheries industry, second in importance to mining in the territory, "calls loudly for the protecting care of the federal government," Governor Strong declared. "It has been and still is the victim of neglect, and this neglect is directly attributable to the insufficiency of funds to employ the necessary personnel to enforce the laws and regulations for the protection of the fisheries and for their proper supervision and extension. Flagrant violations of these laws on the part of fisheries operators are a common occurrence and attempts to prosecute known violators have been only partially successful. The waste of fish at many of the canneries is excessive."

Governor Strong declared that the waters of Alaska had been exploited for their wealth for many years, but that at no time had the exploiters contributed an adequate return for their privileges.

"The system of rebating taxes," he said, "in return for the release of salmon fry by some of the cannery companies operating hatcheries is, and always has been, more or less of a solemn farce. No one has benefitted except the cannery companies which are thus given a direct bonus by the operation of the rebating system and the government has been deprived yearly of a substantial amount of taxes.

"These fisheries should be held in trust for all the people and not reserved for wholesale exploitation.

This tatement applies not alone to the salmon fisheries, but to all the others prosecuted in Alaska, and those who are engaged in the industry should be compelled to pay a just and reasonable tax for the privileges which they enjoy." The governor added that taxes were levied on the salmon output alone.

Gradual transition from placer to lode mining was indicated in the gold industry, Governor Strong said but the building of roads probably would result in increased output from the placer mines. Decrease in the 1913 output, he said, was partly accounted for by a shortage of water in the placer mining regions which curtailed operations. Governor Strong urged that Alaska be given a full territorial form of government.

"Under enlarged powers," he said, "no additional expense to the federal government would be entailed, and matters which properly belong to the legislative functions of the local legislature could be dealt with in a way suited to the needs and requirements of the territory."

He declared the need of an attorney general for the territory was "imperative."

RIGHTS OF WOMAN THEME OF PLAY AT FIRST FORUM MEETING FRIDAY

"How the Vote Was Won" Entertains Large Audience at High School Auditorium—Students Talk on Two Timely Subjects.

Satisfaction was general Friday evening with the first formal appearance of the Forum Literary society, when a large audience of students and friends gathered at the high school auditorium and enjoyed an excellent literary program. In "How the Vote Was Won" a clever one act farce by Cecily Hamilton and Christopher St. John, the amateur actors plead the cause of the unenfranchised woman. The women had taken the antis at this word, declared a strike and working on the supposition that "their sphere is the home" sought support from their nearest male kin. Horace Cole, the victim, held out well but was at last gloriously converted. Edwin Smith took this part with great effect and Grace Wood shone as the suffragist leader. Zelda Benson played well the role of obdurate Horace's fluffy ruffles wifey. Gerald Williams, the unfortunate householder's sedate friend, was played with understanding by Clarence Siegfried. Esther Davis appeared to good effect in the difficult part of Agatha. Beulah McMurphy was the dashing young niece Molly and Gladys Andre appeared as Madame Christine, the stylish dressmaker. Helen Adams as Maudie Sparks made her appearance fresh from the stage and Isabel Woodman as "Aunt Lizzie" was the last straw which broke the resolution of poor Horace. Lilly, the maid was charmingly represented by Effie Sheppard.

Edwin Smith, society president, opened the meeting after which the audience sang the Forum song. Miss Cora Cherry gave a talk on "Fresh Air Schools" and Joel Crouch told about "Modern Methods of Warfare." Anna Frances Bradley appeared with a violin solo just before the play.

CHILDREN HATE OIL, CALOMEL AND PILLS

"California Syrup of Figs" Best for Tender Stomach, Liver, Bowels.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs", which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—advertisement.

WOMEN VOLUNTEERS.

In stress and trouble the women of a nation are always to be counted upon. In Servia the women went to the front with muskets in their hands; they were as strong and brave as the men on the firing line. In this country few of our women escape the weakening troubles peculiar to their sex.

For every disease or ailment of a womanly character, no matter how recent or how long standing, the one sure, reliable remedy of proved merit is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

It is prepared from nature's roots and herbs and does not contain a particle of alcohol or any narcotic. It's not a secret prescription for its ingredients are printed on the wrapper.

Women are earnestly advised to take it for irregular or painful periods, backache, headache, displacement, catarrhal condition, hot flashes, sallow compleion and nervousness.

For girls about to enter womanhood, women about to become mothers and for the changing days of middle age Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription should always be on hand.

JAMES MADISON RING HAS HONORABLE ARMY RECORD

Former Resident, Who Has Been Here on a Visit Served Through Civil War—Was in Business Here for Some Time.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ring of West Plains, Mo., who have been visiting here for some time past, returned home Friday.

In view of Mr. Ring's having practically severed his connection with Jacksonville and in view of his long residence here, and the number of people with whom he had to do, it may not be inappropriate to give a sketch of his life. In this connection it is to be remarked that Mr. Ring is a very well preserved man for his age and up to the time.

James Madison Ring was born near Liberty, Union county, Indiana July 23, 1833. His father's name was Richard, and his mother's maiden name Sarah Cully, she being a members of the well known Cully family of this neighborhood. His father was a native of North Carolina, and his mother of Ohio. His grandfather Cully was buried in the hazelbrush, where Dayton, Ohio, now stands, and his grave is now under the steps of the court house there.

Mr. Ring was present at the first state fair held at Dayton,also the semi-centennial of the same.

Mrs. Ring was Harriet Elizabeth Howard. They were married at Lawrence, Kan., April 1, 1867. They had three children, two boys, who died quite young, and Pearl, a daughter, who married Alfred Ebrey of this place.

Mr. Ring left Indiana and first came to Jacksonville, November 1855; visited Iowa, then came back to Havana, Ill., where he stayed until March 1861, returning here. That fall he went to Cairo and on September 26, 1861, enlisted in Co. E., 27th Ill. Regt. He served with the regiment from its mustering in to its mustering out September 24, 1864. The regiment was mustered out at Springeld, Mr. Ring coming at once to Jacksonville. He went into the pump business at first with Workman Cully, after which he continued this himself until April, 1904; during which he came to know and be known by a great many people of this neighborhood. At the time last mentioned he went to West Plains, Mo., but served as custodian of flags at the Illinois building at the St. Louis fair till that fall. Since then he has been farming near West Plains.

Mrs. Ring was born and raised in Cass county near Bluff Springs, as stated before, belonging to the well known Cully family here.

A rather amusing incident occurred in Mr. Ring's army experience in the fall of 1861. One day he was on guard at Cairo and a rather quiet looking officer came up and started to pass him. The sentry called on him to halt and found the officer did not have the countersign, so he had to return to get it. Later on the officer of the guard asked Mr. Ring if he knew who that was he refused to pass. Ring said no, adding that he did not care. "Well," said the officer, "that was General Grant." Of course young Grant was not so well known and prominent then as he afterwards became. But to an unrained soldier and independent American, shoulder straps counted for little at that time. Still, in view of after events, it was rather a joke on J. M.

Mr. Ring took part in the battle of Belmont and was present at Island No. 10, April 7, 1862 at 1 a. m., when that post surrendered to General Pope and his victorious westerners. The regiment was then ordered to Corinth, Miss., April 24, 1862. It was in the long and bloody fight at Stone River, New Year's of 1863. Mr. Ring took part in the battle of Chickamauga September 19 and 20, 1863. The regiment then went to Chattanooga and from there went to Knoxville, to relieve General Burnside. It was in the Atlanta campaign and Mr. Ring took part in the battles of Resaca and Peach Tree Creek in July 1864. The regiment stayed near Atlanta till August 24, 1864, the term of enlistment having expired it came to Springfield and was mustered out.

Mr. Ring has been a member of Matt Starr post here for some time.

There are not many of the old soldiers left, and the good wishes of their friends will go with this one, and his wife, to their home in Missouri.

HERE are some statistics gathered from the records of the Cigar Makers Internatianal Union. They are interesting at this time. They show the effects of the economic organization, which uses this label.

In 1890, 49 per cent of the amount expended for sick benefit went to those suffering from tuberculosis.

In 1910 the total amount expended for sick benefits was $189,438.59, of which amount about 21 5-10 per per cent, or $40,729.30, was paid to members suffering fromt uberculosis.

In 1911 the total expended for sick benefit amounted to $201,296.03, of which amount 20 1 10 per cent, or $40,460.50, was paid to members suffering from tuberculosis. This shows a reduction of 28 9-10 per cent in 21 years.

These figures are based on a general average, while as a matter of fact, those suffering from tuberculosis are more generally sick, and hence more liable to draw sick benefit, so that the average amount is necessarily and reasonably not fully covered in the figures given.

CATTLE FEEDERS

Woods' Improved Grain Softener

Pat. Applied for 100 bu. size.

This wonderful device for softening grain, or cooking it will enable you to feed cattle without hogs following them, as the cattle digest all they eat when made digestible. If you have hogs you can feed them the soup of the corn, if not give it to your calves, or cattle.

I find everything on the place likes this mush even the chickens do well on it, and they lay more eggs if fed on hot mush, with a little meat scraps mixed in it.

We can make a separate coil of pipe and place inside the furnace to heat the drinking water, without any trouble. This can be put to one side or used as a part of the grate where the hot coals lay on it all the time. This mush is the very thing to fatten poor horses on. It equals feeding green corn to them and is also great for dairy cows, makes them produce 1-4 more milk.

Yours for producing more beef and pork,

CHARLES WOOD R.F.D. NO.6

ATTEMPT TO BURGLARIZE RESTAURANT AT CONCORD

Burlington Operator at Concord Takes Two Shots at Would-be Burglars.

An attempt to burglarize the restaurant at Concord was frustrated by the Burlington operator at that place Wednesday night. The operator stepped to the door of the station and saw a man standing in front of the restaurant. On seeing the railroader the man started to run and the operator shot at him once. Just then three others came from behind the restaurant and ran away. The operator also shot at these, but it is not known whether he hit any of the men.

For some time there has been a great deal of burglarizing of merchandise cars on the Burlington St. Louis line from Beardstown south, and just a few nights ago ten cars between Beardstown and Winchester were broken into. On account of this the operators along the line are taking no chances with suspicious looking characters.

Men Pay Homage to Mother's Friend

"I am not surprised to observe the number of men who come into the store to purchase 'Mother's Friend,'" remarked a leading druggist.

The expectant mother if she hasn't heard of this splendid embrocation is probably not reading the papers to much extent. And if she does it is a happy thought to send hubby to the drug store. "Mother's Friend" is applied externally over the abdominal muscles.

It is a gentle, soothing lubricant, penetrates to the fine network of nerves beneath the skin and has a marked tendency to relieve the muscular strain to which these broad, flat abdominal muscles are subjected. The cords, tendons and ligaments are thus permitted to stretch without the corresponding surface strain so often involved during the period of expectation. This in part accounts for the entire absence, in many cases reported, of nausea, morning sickness and other distresses. And particularly to young mothers is this remedial application of inestimable value since in thus keeping the muscles firm but pliant it enables them to go through the ordeal without laceration of the epidermis so often the case when this gentle form of lubrication is neglected.

"Mother's Friend" is highly recommended by a host of women. Write Bradfield Regulator Co., 508 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., and we will send you a valuable little book to expectant mothers.

The effect of this splendid external application is an expression of the thousands of women who have successfully used it and recommended it through two generations.

PRAISES WORK OF MISS NATHALIA JENSEN

The Daily Citizen of Searcy, Arkansas, speaks in complimentary terms of the work of Miss Nathalia Jensen, violinist, a member of the faculty. Miss Jensen it will be remembered graduated last year from the Conservatory of Music. It says:

"The music faculty is also greatly enriched this year by the presence of Miss Nathalia Jensen, violinist, who appeared in the first recital of the year. Miss Jensen is a genuine artist, being the possessor of marked musical temperament which was shown in the first number that she played, the heavy Concerto op. 26 by Max Bruch, one of the most wonderful violin concertos. In the first movement Miss Jensen revealed her fluent and finished technique as she skillfully handled all the difficult parts. Her tones were broad and vibrant and she played with assurance and ease. The second movement, remarkable for its beautiful singing quality, was played with the sympathy and feeling that only an artist can appreciate and interpret and only one possessed of emotional temperament can portray. Her second numbers, the popular serenade by Kritch and Les Farfadets, the bright and attractive composition of Emilio Pente, were likewise awarded much applause. The serenade was well played and the number by Pente showed Miss Jensen at her best in the graceful and original conception and artistic feeling which distinguished her performance and which has already made of her a concert violinist of much note.

MONUMENT TO GEN. SHIELDS UNVEILED IN MISSOURI

Had Served Illinois and Two Other States as Senator—Governor of a Fourth State.

At Carrollton, Mo., Thursday, a monument was unveiled to Gen. James Shields who was for many years a resident of this state and who in an early day was elected a senator from Illinois. The Globe-Democrat gives the following account of the imposing ceremonies:

The monument erected by the State of Missouri to the memory of Brig. Gen. James Shields was unveiled in the presence of thousands of persons.

Gov. Major and his staff, accompanied by the Third Regiment, Missouri National Guards, and a band from Kansas City, arrived this morning. At 9:30 a parade over a mile long marched to St. Mary's Cemetery where the body of Gen. Shields lies, and a brief ceremony was held. At 1:30 this afternoon the unveiling ceremonies were held in the Courthouse yard, where the monument is erected. Dr. Daniel Shields of New York City, a son of the general, lifting the veil.

Addresses were made by Gov. Major, Lieut. Gov. W. R. Painter, Senator Wm. G. Busby, R. F. Brown official representative of the state of Minnesota; Nelson O'Shaunnessy, representative of the State of Illinois; John M. Mead of Topeka, Jno. T. Barker, attorney general of Missouri; Rev. F. R. Tierney of Trenton, Mo., John T. Morris and others.

The base of the monument is of Missouri red granite and the figure of Gen. Shields is the work of Fred C. Hibbard of Chicago, who made the Mark Twain monument at Hannibal. A replica of the Carrollton monument recently was unveiled in the Statehouse at St. Paul, Minn.

Monument Cost $10,000.

The cost of the Carrollton monument was $10,000, the appropriation being made by the last session of the Missouri Legislature at the instance of Senator Wm. G. Busby of Carrollton. Several years ago the United States government appropriated $10,000 for a monument to the general, which was unveiled at St. Mary's Cemetery here.

A senator from three states and governor of a fourth—this is the record of Gen. Shields, which is unparalleled in the history of the United States. In addition he served as a brigadier general in both the Mexican and civil wars. Gen. Shields was the first territorial governor of Oregon, he served a full term as United States senator from Illinois; he was one of the first two senators from Minnesota and he served out an unexpired term as senator from Missouri. He also was a Missouri railroad commissioner, member of the Missouri Legislature, state auditor of Illinois and a justice of the Illinois Supreme Court at various times.

Gov. Major paid high tribute to Gen. Shields as a "lawyer, orator, jurist, soldier and statesman, whose proud achievements are written in letters of gold upon the escutcheon of three imperial states and whose statue graces the hall of fame."

"Wore Honors with Modesty."

"Gen. Shields was a brave and courageous soldier and saw a service which fell to the lot of few," said Gov. Major. 'His military career was crowned with honors and distinctions which, as a great man, he wore with becoming modesty. His public career is filled with splendid triumphs, and we crown him with laurels as a genius in statecraft. He labored for governmental policies which will live when the people of this generation shall have passed away. He was a man of the people and labored for the people. He taught the principle that the nation prospered most and was firmer upon its foundation when it based its prosperity upon its toiling millions rather than upon the colossal fortunes of a few. He was faithful and incorruptible, intelligent and aggresive; he saw and builded far in advance of his day and assisted in shaping and controlling our national policies; while others labored in the business marts, and the forum, he builded a greater structure, one more lasting and enduring. His life was chaste and his character spotless, while his achievements begirthed the nation. He was a masterful spirit in the life, jurisprudence and history of America, and his reputation was not limited by any state, but was as broad as the republic itself."

COMMERCIAL ASSOCIATION TO MEET.

The Illinois Commercial Federation will meet in Springfield Nov. 24th and 150 delegates are expected to attend. The membership of the organization consist of representatives from nearly every commercial club in the state of Illinois. A number of prominent speakers will make addresses. They are Dean Kinley of the University of Illinois, who will speak on "Foreign Trade," Dr. Butler of the University of Chicago, who will talk on "Vocational Education," and C. A. Kiler, of Champaign, who will give statistics on the Tice Good Roads law.

SPECIAL SERVICE AT BAPTIST CHURCH

The present is a crisis moment, and every member of the church is being urged to respond as liberally as circumstances can be forced to permit.

At that service the pastor will continue his series of sermons on Heaven III "The People of Heaven." Shall we know each other in heaven? And, do our departed loved ones see us now. These subjects will be dealt with in the sermon.

EUROPEAN WAR NOTES

Steamer Arrives Safely.

London, Nov. 13.—A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co., from Rome says that the steamer Citta Di Savona, which sent out a wireless "S. O. S." call when 150 miles off Cattania, Sicily, saying she was on fire, has arrived at Cattania. The fire was extinguished by soldiers on board.

From Petrograd Writer.

London, Nov. 13.—The Petrograd correspondent of the Reuter Telegram Co., sends the following:

"The Germans have concentrated strongly north of the Mazurian Lakes (east Prussia) with heavy guns from Koenigsberg. Along the Soldau-Lyck line they have constructed heavily timbered, strongly armed blockhouses with barbed wire defences."

Cruiser Sighted off Colon.

Panama, Nov. 13.—A warship believed to be the British cruiser Suffolk, has been sighted 25 miles off Colon. She was steaming with lights out. Her destination was not ascertained.

Austrians are Repulsed.

London, Nov. 13.—An official telegram from Cettinje says: "During the last three days Austrians with heavy reinforcements attacked our entire front stationed at Genaheva endeavoring to capture important positions at Klebouk and Timer, but, though considerably greater in strength than ourselves, were repulsed after fierce fighting, our army fully maintaining its position."

Petrograd Despatch.

Paris, Nov. 13.—The Petrograd correspondent of the Havas agency sends the following despatch:

"News that the German troops in their retreat, have occupied all the defiles to the east of the Mazurian Lakes (east Prussia), where they have placed heavy artillery, hastened to the scene that they intend to resist the Russians tenaciously in that section. The Germans hope that on these positions, which they consider impregnable, the shock of the Russians will be broken. However, the Russians were successfull yesterday in sorties to the east of the lakes.

"Throughout all Prussia, railway passenger traffic has been susupended. The lines now are transporting only troops, apparently with a view to a new concentration which is said to have been decided upon by a recent council of the Austro-German general staff at Cracow. This council is reported to have decided to change completely the plan of battle."

French Communication.

Paris, Nov. 13.—The following official communication was issed tonight:

"From the sea to the Lys the German active has not been so strong and on some parts of the front we ourselves have taken the offensive.

"We have progressed to the south of Bixschoote.

"At the east of Ypres we have retaken by a counter-attack a village which had been lost.

"At the south of Ypres, we have repulsed an offensive movement of the Prussian guard.

"On the other part of the front only cannonades are mentioned."

From Official Press Bureau.

London, Nov. 13.—The Official Press Bureau issued the following communication at 11 o'clock tonight:

"A very severe attack against the portion of the line held by the first army corps before Ypres was delivered on the eleventh by a Prussian guard corps. The enemy made an especial effort on this occasion to break the line which they hoped already had been weakened by attacks of infantry of the line. The facts briefly are as follows:

"Our troops were subjected to the heaviest bombardment that we have yet experienced, from dawn for three hours. This was at once followed up by an assault in force, carried out by the first and fourth brigades of the Prussian guards corps. It is understood that these picked troops had been brought up specially to act against us in order to force their way through at points where previous efforts made by the infantry of the line had failed.

"The attack was pressed with the greatest bravery and determination. Owing to the gallantry of our troops and their splendid resistance against great odds the attempt to penetrate to Ypres was repulsed but the weight of the enemy's advance enabled them to break through our lines at three points. They were however hurled back and prevented from gaining further ground.

"An immense loss had been inflicted on the Germans, seven hundred of their dead having been found on the ground behind our front trenches. The casaulties suffered by them in advancing up to our line under direct and enfiladed fire must have been enormous. Our casaulties also were heavy.

"The action of our troops on this as well as on previous occasions cannot be praised too highly."

Russian Official Statement.

Petrograd, Nov. 13.—The following statement has been received by the Russian commander in chief's staff:

"In Eastern Prussia, the fighting continues in the region of Stalluponen for the possession of the outlets in the eastern chain of the Mazurian Lakes.

"The fighting in the region of Soldau continues.

"The German offensive has been repulsed in the direction of Thorn, on both banks of the Vistula toward Ryfoin and Wloclawek and further west. The enemy brought here a part of his troops from Lyck.

"In the Czenstochowa region the Germans are moving gradually toward the Silesian frontier.

"In Galicia our offensive toward Dounajetz nowhere encountered resistance.

"We occupied Krosno and inflicted heavy losses on the Austrian rear guard.

"In the region of Sanok and Turka, where we stormed nightly a well fortified position, the Austrians on the morning of November 11, began retreating.

"In the Carpathians on the road from Nadvorna to Marmarosziget near Pasieczna we defeated a body of hostile Sokols.

"Turkish torpedo boats have been sighted near Soulina on the Black Sea."

RAILROADS AGREE ON HIGHER MEAL PRICES

After Sunday next table d'hote meals in all dining cars and eating stations on the railroads throughout the country will cost a minimum of 75 cents each. The railroads have just entered an agreement to this effect. While dining cars in which table d'hote meals are served are not numerous, thousands of railroad dining rooms have been serving meals for 50 cents. Special trains also have served table d'hote meals for parties for less than 75 cents.

On three of the roads west the rate will be advanced from $1 to $1.25. Dining cars serving course dinners at this price are operated between Chicago and St. Paul, north bound, by the Chicago and Northwestern, and the Milwaukee and St. Paul roads. In the Southwest the Santa Fe will advance the price from $1 to $1.25, on its limited train between Chicago and Los Angeles, and a similar advance will be made when the once-a-week de luxe train between Chicago and California goes on in January.

Representatives of the railroads say dining car service on every first-class road is a losing proposition, but that it must be maintained. Meals a la carte will be served in all dining cars as usual.

What are we paying taxes for? They say if we got in a war, we'd be a loser; though loudly we our trumpets toot, we have no cannon that will shoot, and no torpedoes that will scoot and sink a cruiser. In congress now the statesmen rise, disgust and fury in their eyes, and roast our navy; a foreign foe would surely mock the cheap old ships we have in stock, and he from Uncle Sam would knock the blooming gravy. Our army truly is the staff, but then it isn't big enough to cause much trouble; our volunteers, in whom we trust, before the foe would bite the dust, and all their fair renown would bust like any bubble. Our guns are mostly out of date, and can't be used for shooting straight, our swords are rusty; our aeroplanes, that cleave the blue, are well enough, but they're too few; our generals and colonels, too, are stale and musty. If we should e'er be forced to fight, so say the statesmen, in affright, our name is Trousers; if into war we we should be hurled, we'd tremble soon, with banners furled, before the war dogs of the world, the snarling Towsers. So loosen up and pay your tax! Your country needs a battle-ax, and bow and arrow! Oh, when your country calls for mon, to buy a new breech-loading gun, I pray you, do not then, my son, be mean and narrow!

WOMAN IN BAD CONDITION

Restored To Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Montpelier, Vt. — "We have great faith in your remedies. I was very irregular and was tired and sleepy all the time, would have cold chills, and my hands and feet would bloat. My stomach bothered me, I had pain in my side and a bad headache most of the time. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me lots of good and I now feel fine. I am regular, my stomach is better and my pains have all left me. You can use my name if you like. I am proud of what your remedies have done for me." — Mrs. MARY GAUTHIER, 21 Ridge St., Montpelier, Vt.

An Honest Dependable Medicine

It must be admitted by every fair-minded, intelligent person, that a medicine could not live and grow in popularity for nearly forty years, and to-day hold a record for thousands upon thousands of actual cures, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, without possessing great virtue and actual worth. Such medicines must be looked upon and termed both standard and dependable by every thinking person.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

WESTERN FOOT BALL APPROACHING CLIMAX

GAMES TODAY WILL GO FAR IN SETTLING CHAMPIONSHIPS.

Chicago-Illinois and Wisconsin-Minnesota Games Will Do Much to Decide "Big Nine" Honors—Kansas-Nebraska Contest an Important One in Missouri Valley Race.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Tomorrow's football program in the central states and last year's score:

At Urbana—Chicago, 28 vs. Illinois, 7.

At Ann Arbor—Cornell, 0 vs. Michigan, 17.

At Minneapolis—Wisconson, 3 vs. Minnesota, 21.

At Chicago—Carlisle —, vs. Notre Dame, —.

At Lincoln—Kansas, 0 vs. Nebraska, 9.

At Ames—Iowa 45, vs. Ames, 7.

At Manhattan—Oklahoma, — vs. Kansas Aggies, —.

At Columbia—Oberlin, 0, vs. Ohio, 0.

At Columbia—Oberlin, 0, vs. Ohio 0.

At Columbia—Washington, 0 vs. Missouri, 19.

At Evanston—Purdue, 34 vs. Northwestern, 0.

Western football approaches its climax tomorrow. The Chicago-Illinois and Wisconsin-Minnesota games will go far toward settling the conference championship and Kansas and Nebraska meet in a contest of utmost importance in the Missouri Valley race. Dividing interest with those games, Michigan and Notre Dame take on additional eastern teams, the former winding up its season with Cornell and the latter tackling the Carlisle Indians.

Chicago's hope of retaining its title as big nine champion depends on the part its three stars, Gray, Flood and Albert take in the game at Urbana tomorrow. None of the three is in first class, but all of them have able and willing understudies. On form, Illinois is favorite over Chicago and betting reflects that sentiment but the wizzard of the Midway has contrived the defeat before of apparently superior teams and given his full strength, even for a short time, may turn the battle in his favor.

The Illini's chief strength is in the versatile attack which Coach Zuppke has taugh them. The Orange and Blue men, excelling, say reports, all voters in this section of the country in the handling of the forward pass, have mastered the socalled rugby game. Every player has been drilled in grabbing long heaves out of the air and the percentage of passes that go wrong with the Illini, it is said, is relatively small.

A gallant battle should be that put up by the Badgers and Gophers at Minneapolis. Critics are inclined to make Wisconsin the faforite, in view of the Cardinal's strong game against Chicago and Minnesota's defeat by Illinois. Besides, the Badgers apparently are in the best of shape, while Solon, one of the few experienced men in the Gopher squad and from most angles, Williams' most valuable man, may not be able to go through the whole game.

Ancient rivals clash at Ann Arbor when Michigan and Cornell meet. This year the closest of struggles between the two is expected, for the Ithicans have been gaining rapidly in strength. Michigan's rout of Pennsylvania last week has made the Wolverines favorites and probably has given Yost's men a lot of confidence.

A spectacular battle is expected at Comiskey Park, Chicago, in the meeting of Notre Dame and the Indians. To the loyal rooters of the Hoosiers school, its fottball record this year has been a disappointment, but its large Chicago Alumni will gather in force to witness the game.

Interest in Yale-Princeton Game.

New York, Nov. 13.—Chief interest in the eastern football schedule for tomorrow centers in the Yale-Princeton game. While the Blue rules favorite there are many Princeton supporters who predict the Orange and Black will close its season with a showing against the Elis that will wipe out the memory of last week's disastrous defeat at the hands of Harvard.

When the season's records of the two elevens are carefully considered it appears unlikely that such an eleventh hour reversal of form is probable, for while the Yale defensive this autumn has proved uncertain and erratic it has flashed at times into marked superiority to that of the Tigers. Syracuse, Dartmouth, Williams and Harvard all found Princeton weak in defending her own goal line and if the game against the Crimson can be taken as a criterion little progress has been made in the closing weeks of the season toward remedying this defect.

From an offensive standpoint, Yale appears to outclass her rivals of tomorrow, since every team the Blue has faced this season has been scored upon repeatedly with the single exception of the strong Washington and Jefferson eleven, which won from the Eli's 13 to 7.

The Pennsylvania - Dartmouth game offers somewhat similar conditions upon which to speculate. The Quakers have played erratic football all season, showing strength and dash in one contest, only to slump badly a week later. Defeated by Franklin and Marshall and held to a no-score tie by LaFayette, the Red and Blue came back strong against the Navy, winning 13 to 6. Carlisle and Swarthmore were defeated in turn and then Michigan swamped the Quakers at Ann Arbor last Saturday 34 to 3.

Both the Army and Navy have selected Maine college combinations as opponents and should win, although the New England elevens are powerful aggregations with fine records for the season. Harvard faces Brown in the final game of the season before tackling Yale and because of the rather mediocre showing of the Brunnoins, this autumn little doubt regarding the outcome is felt at Cambridge.

THE ATTACK ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

"Young Timothy," begins his battle with attacking the personal life of his foe. To make lunges at an enemy, thereby deeming the most vulnerable point is punctured, is a mistake for a minister to make. To create an animus will not give the victory to the one so attacking. "Timothy" does not know, that Moses murdered an Egyptian, that David had a husband slain so as to appropriate his wife, that Paul persecuted the Christians, and that they who are not immaculate have no logical right to say: "He that is without sin, cast the first stone." It is a weakness to fight an enemy by clubbing the personal life of that enemy. Out of filth and putrid matter comes a most beautiful flower, the water lily. Out of the greatest sinners came the purest saints.

Mrs. Eddy's system of expounding Scriptures is not the letter, the literal, the historical; nor was it the mode used by the founder of Modern Christianity, Paul. But the literal, historical mode is applied by "Timothy." His attacks are applied to Mrs. Eddy's teachings implying that as new editions of Science and Health came out, the wordings were changed, so that the meanings would be greatly changed or obliterated from the original edition. But "Timothy" in his teachings changes his phraseology every time he preaches to explain his meanings. "Timothy" affirms, that the Bible is infallible in this regard, whereas, it is filled with interpolations, mistranslations, mutilations, eliminations, so that the original copy has been obliterated in many doctrines. See Higher Criticism for confirmation.

The Douay translation has many different readings from those of King James' translation. The late revised version of the Scriptures gave many changes to words, phrases and sentences. Thus does "Timothy" fail and fall into blunders by affirming infallibility for a human product. He objects to Mrs. Eddy's readings of the Lord's Prayer, especially that of addressing Deity as Father-Mother. How can the relation of Father subsist without the Feminine Principle? Can "Timothy" answer?

"Timothy" believes that reality is all that which appeals to the sense nature and natural mind. Mrs. Eddy teaches the Reality to be God, Spirit. "Timothy", by making matter reality defies it and thus becomes a materialist and idolator. Mrs. Eddy denies matter and is a spiritualist in philosophy. In her denial she negates negation, whilst "Timothy" positives negation, and in this he becomes a pantheist, yet labels Mrs. Eddy's system pantheism. Thus does "Timothy" dwell in a logical contradiction, a most absurd attitude to be in as a teacher of religion.

"Timothy" believes that the concept, man, is made up of flesh, nerve tissues, bones, blood, vicera, and this is the real man. Mrs. Eddy teaches that the concept, man, is a spiritual entity which is sinless, diseaseless, deathless, and is ever youthful. Wherein, does Mrs. Eddy do violence to reason, truth, in her teachings?

"Timothy" makes merry and jests for the delight of his audience, over the concept, ideal, idea. He does not see, that the ideal, the idea is the goal to be realized which every system of religion holds up to the people. Christ is the highest ideal and all systems of religion points to this ideal and urges its attainment. "Timothy" does not realize, that his mind is superior to his brain, for the reason, he confounds mind and brain, and sides with the materialist who teaches that the mind is a product of the brain.

The influence of mind over negations, and not the influence of gations over the mind, is the law of psychis science. Mrs. Eddy denies the negations and their influences on the man, by this denial, destroys their influences, and realizes the Law of Being. Whereas, "Timothy" affairms the reality of negations and strengthens their power over the man to imprison him to them. Which is the more rational teaching, that of Mrs. Eddy's or that of "Timothy"? Determine for yourself—the law is within you.

MERCHANTS MET TO DISCUSS SCRIP PLAN.

Opposition Develops to "Mile of Travel for Dollar in Trade" Program.

Members of the retailers department of the Chamber of Commerce and some other merchants met at the call of Secretary Fritchey Friday morning to discuss the question of merchants entering into contracts with the Scrip Company. The purpose of the meeting was to try and secure an agreement among merchants not to enter into such contracts. Committees were appointed to confer with other merchants not present and it was reported later in the day that most of the merchants had agreed not to arrange any terms with the Scrip Company. Those opposing the plan maintained that to offer travel scrip to their customers would mean an added cost of about four per cent for doing business which eventually the customer must pay. They declared this would not be bad if the cost was simply for new business but that the same cost would apply to business already being done by the merchants.

DOMESTIC TRADE SHOWS VERY LITTLE GROWTH

Output of Important Industries Still Much Below Normal.

New York, Nov. 13.—Dunn's review tomorrow will say: "Trade, except for export, shows little growth and the output of important industries is still much below the normal, yet the improvement in business sentiment, that has been so marked during the past two weeks is steadily expanding and been greatly strengthened by the developments of the past few days. The machinery of the markets, which broke down under the strain of the international crisis is being rapidly repaired, and with the immense increase in exports which tends to restore a normal trade balance and the better control now being exercised, the foreign exchange market is approaching a point where it is no longer a serious menace.

"Failures this week in the United States were 443 against 299 last year, in Canada 79 against 42 last year.

"Bank exchanges were $2,285,365,000, a decrease of 23.1 per cent from last year. Wheat exports were 5,545,000 bushels, compared with 5,577,000 a year ago."

WORLD'S MARKET NEWS

LATEST PEACE RUMORS START SELLING MOVEMENT

Uneasiness About Reports Regarding Austria Shake Confidence of Holders of Wheat.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Uneasiness about rumors that Austria was asking independently for terms of peace shook the confidence today of holders of wheat. Although the market at the close was relatively firm, prices were one cent to 1⅜@1½c under last night. Other leading staples, too, all suffered a net loss—corn ⅜@½c to ½@⅝c, oats ⅛ to ¼c and provisions 7½c to 20c.

Notwithstanding that the latest peace rumors could not be verified much information any better than those of the two preceeding days, the circumstantial nature of the new version quickly started a selling movement in the wheat pit and dislodged so many stop loss orders that for a while the trade became semi-demoralized. The break in the market was finally checked through free buying on the part of a number of big houses. Certain banking circles were alleged to have given credence to reports that Austria within the last three days had requested a powerful neutral state to ascertain what terms Austria would be granted independently of Germany.

Corn showed considerable resistance to selling pressure that followed the break in the wheat market. It was said there was a good cash call from the seaboard and that consignment notices from the country were small. On the other hand, the failure of predictions for unsettled weather had a depressing effect. Relative greater steadiness characterized oats than other cereals. A number of leading commission houses were on the buying side and remained so regardless of sympathy shown for the fall of wheat.

RUSSIANS TO GET BEER TOMORROW.

Petrograd, Nov. 13—The resumption of the sale of beer, which, by decision of the government, will be resumed tomorrow, has brought fourth a storm of protest from many sources. The newspaper Novoe Vremva severly criticises the new order, on the ground that it is at variance with the Emperor's decision and may revive the dormant national appetite for strong drink.

Thomas Simpkins of the Buckhorn community returned Friday from Piper City, Ill., where he was the guest of his daughter, Mrs. Alice Kloethe.

CHOCOLATE AND COCOA ARE MOST NUTRITIOUS

BEVERAGES ARE MUCH IN USE WITH AMERICANS.

Nourishing Properties Are Much Enhanced by Use of Milk, or Milk and Cream—Methods of Producing Palatable Chocolate.

By Dr. N. E. Goldthwaite, Household Science Department, University of Illinois.

Chocolate and cocoa are beverages that are much in use with the American people. Each is exceedingly nutritious in itself, and these nurishing properties are much enhanced by the methods of making i. e., by the use of milk, or of milk and cream, with sugar added in either case.

The commercial chocolates and cocoas are both cocoa bean preparations. The former is made by grinding fine the well cleaned beans. The heat of this grinding process melts the ground mass, forming a dark-colored molasses-like liquid and this melted material, unsweetened, poured into molds, and cooled, is what the housekeeper is familiar with as chocolate or "bitter" chocolate. Cocoa is made for the market by taking out a considerable portion of the fat naturally contained in "bitter" chocolate. This fat, when cooled in molds, is sold as cocoa butter. The residue of the chocolate that is left after the removal of the fat or "bitter" is the powder which the housekeeper knows as cocoa or "breakfast cocoa."

Both chocolate and cocoa are very rich foods; one pound of "bitter" chocolate yields a total food value of 2722 calories to the human body, while one pound of cocoa powder yields 2256 calories. A calorie by the way, is the amount of heat necessary to raise 1 kilogram (2.2 pounds) of water 1 degree Centigrade (1.8 degrees F.), and a moderate sized man doing moderate muscular work needs food which supplies him with 2800-3200 calories of energy per 24 hours. Dietitians say that from 400-500 calories should be supplied by protein or tissue building material.

However, while "bitter" chocolate has a food value greater than cocoa power, the latter has a large protein content. A pound of "bitter" chocolate contains but 2 ounces of protein whereas one pound of cocoa powder contains over 3 ounces. This difference in the protein content means that but 234 calories per pound from the protein in cocoa.

Chocolate as a beverage is usually made by using one square (one ounce) of "bitter" chocolate to one pint of liquid, the liquid being composed of equal parts of whole milk and water, to which a pinch of salt is added, the mixture being thoroughly boiled and then sweetened to taste; cream may or may not be added. Cocoa, as a beverage, is similarly made, measuring the cocoa powder by teaspoonfuls.

To some housekeepers the use of separated milk in such beverages may be a new idea. However, the study of comparative cost and food values is very interesting and well worth the attention of the thoughtful housekeeper as skim milk is decidedly cheaper than the whole milk.

The cheapest method of producing a palatable chocolate is to use the separated milk in the proportion 1-2 milk to 1-2 water. To make one quart of the beverage use 2 squares of chocolate, 1 pint of water, the same of skim milk, and 8 teaspoonfuls of sugar. This will cost but 6 cents per quart; if the proportion of separated milk to water be increased to three-fourths to one-fourth water, the cost is very slightly increased, being still less than seven cents per quart; if cream be served with these finished products at the rate of 4 tablespoonfuls to a quart, the cost per quart is increased about three cents but is not less than ten cents. From the standpoint of food value it is quite remarkable that chocolate made from separated milk in the proportions of 3-4 milk to 1-4 water is cheaper per 1000 calories than chocolate made of whole milk in the proportion of 1-2 water to 1-2 milk.

As for a cocoa food drink from the standpoint of palatibility it should not contain more than 1 1-2 ounces of powered cocoa per quart of finished product, while one once per quart provides a delicious beverage. When cocoa is made by using 1 1-2 ounces of powdered cocoa per quart of finished product, the total food value per cup served is less than that of the corresponding cup of chocolate made on the basis of 2 ounces of "bitter" chocolate per quart of finished product. However, in calories due to the one element protein or tissue building material per cup served, such cocoa surpasses this chocolate.

The best way to make chocolate beverages is by boiling the "bitter" chocolate or the cocoa powder with the water used, and then adding this boiled mixture to milk heated hot in a double boiler. It is better not to boil the milk. A pinch of salt improves the flavor of either beverage.

In closing it may be said that chocolate and cocoa both possess stimulating properties of coffee but in far less proportion in each case. Moreover chocolate and cocoa are foods in themselves, whereas coffee in itself, has no food value; all food value that it possesses is due to the added sugar and cream; the same is true of tea.

Further chocolate is often recommended as a fat food because of its large fat content.

QUAIL CAPTURES AND MAKES AWAY WITH FARMERS' FOES

Eats Army-Worms, Cotton Boll-Weevil, Chinchbugs and Potato-Bug Which Others of His Kind Scorn to Touch.

"Mr. Farmer, however luring as an object of sport, or dainty tid-bit he may be on the table, please remember that Bob White is worth ever so much more alive and sheltered on your farm. Protected, he will faithfully patrol your fields, capture and make away with your worst foes, including the devastating army-worm, cotton boll-weevil, chich-bug and the potato-bug which others of his kind scorn to touch. He is a splendid ranger and raids close to the ground from the noxious weed seeds which form more than half of his diet.

"One Bob White was found with 400 pig-weed seeds concealed about his person. Another, 500 seeds or ragweed. A third, in addition to other food had consumed 550 seeds of sheep-sorrel while a fourth had 640 seeds of pigeon-grass and several had from 50 to 100 seeds of jewel-week. Every quail tenant which lives on the farmer's land has been estimated to be worth $25.00 to him. This would make a dressed quail weighing four ounces worth $6.25 an ounce. Aglow with life, happy in his good service to you, the amount of good cheer and good fortune this mascot of the field will bring you cannot be estimated in dollars and cents. Flea of Liberty Bell Club, Philadelphia.

Questions and Answers.

Question: W. B. Rock Island, Ill., writes:

"I wish you would kindly assist me in preparing a ration for my cattle. I have pure-bred registered Holsteins. I am not satisfied with my results. At present the cows are giving from thirty to thirty-five pounds of milk a day, averaging 3.4 per cent fat.

"My present feeds are corn and oats, bran, gluten and oil meal making up a ration of 250 lbs. corn and oats, 100 lbs. bran, 100 lbs. gluten and 50 lbs. oil meal.

"These feeds are all mixed together and I feed nine pounds to the heaviest milkers and seven or eight pounds to the rest of them, and all of the alfalfa hay they will clean up.

"I am unable to provide silage for them much to my regret, but I am looking for beet pulp as a substitute as soon as it is on the market."

Answer:

"I am writing you concerning the feeding of your dairy herd. I believe that it will be possible to feed a ration which is not as expensive as the one you are feeding and still get practically as good results. Besides feeding all of the alfalfa hay the cows will consume, a grain mixture consisiting of ten parts corn and cob meal, two parts wheat bran and one part oil meal could be fed at the rate of about one pound of grain to teach two and one half pounds of milk being produced daily, the individuality of the cow and her production being taken into consideration. I am assuming in this that the cow will eat sixteen to eighteen pounds of alfalfa hay per day. Another grain mixture which could be fed to good advantage might consist of ten parts by weight of corn and cob meal, two parts of wheat bran and two parts of gluten feed, fed at about the same rate as the other grain mixture. In case you use dried beet pulp, it could be wet and added in an amount sufficient to give the effect of a succulent feed. I should like to emphasize the fact that the cows be fed individually taking into consideration their size and production. R. S. Hulce, Dairy Husbandry, University of Illinois.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys, backache and urinary disorders.

Jacksonville evidence proves their worth.

VARIETY IS SPICE OF LIFE FOR LAYING HENS

TASTY MIXTURES MAKES FOWLS THRIVE.

Careful and Thoughtful Feeding is Necessary if a Full Egg Basket During the Winter Months is to be Expected.

By C. I. Newlin, Assistant in Animal Husbandry, University of Illinois

Article I.

It is the common practice, we are sorry to say, with some farmers of Illinois to give their poultry nothing but shelled corn, day in and day our, throughout the year, and then they wonder why their results are far from being good. It is not the hen that will lay only in the spring of the year—any fowl will do that for the spring is the natural laying period—but it is the hen that will lay plenty of eggs during the cold winter months when eggs are high in price, that pays her board with interest in the form of dollars, which during this war-time are indeed welcome. And it is only by careful, thoughtful, feeding—scientific feeding, if you please—that we can expect a full egg basket during the months when "hen fruit" is generally found only upon the menu of the village's of Fifth Avenue.

But before one can feed fowls intelligently, one must be familiar with the fowl's digestive system in utilizing this food eaten, and the needs of bodies of different ages and under different environmental conditions. Poultry differ from other livestock in that they have no teeth with which to grind or tear their food before it passes into the digestive tract. Neither can they swallow their food into a storage stomach and later regurgitate and masticatet it at leisure. Green food, vegetables, meat and other soft materials, it is true, can be torn into shreds and small bits with the strong, muscular jaws, but poultry must swallow their hard food just as they find it.

Suppose we take the time to follow the food as it passes through the fowl's digestive machanism. After being picked up by the beak, the feed portions pass directly from the mouth into the crop, which is a good-sized, muscular-walled storage stomach somewhat similar in purpose to the paunch of the cow. Here it is mixed with certain digestive juices that soften and prepare it for the second stomach. This latter organ is very much smaller than the crop, and here it is acted on by other digestive juices of like nature. Though food then goes to the gizzard, an exteremely muscular organ, possessing a very tough and convoluted lining, where it is ground into extremely fine particles by means of the grit the fowl eats and the grinding action of the powerful digestive organ. And right here let us remember that grit is the hen's teeth. It forms the grinding burrs of that natural feed-mill—the gizzard. Now the food passes on to the intestines where the process of digestion is completed and the last of the nutrient, material absorbed by the blood, the indigestible portion and other waste matter being carried on and excreted in the form of manure.

It is generally agreed that the laying hen does best on a ration supplying approximately one pound of digestible protein for every 4.6 pounds of digestible carbohydrates and fats, in other words, a nutritive ration of 1:4.6; the young, growing chick which requires a very large amount of protein to make bone, muscle and new feathers, does best on more nitrogenous nutrients and somewhat less carbohydrates, or a narrow nutritive ratio of 1:3.9; while the nature fowl that is being fattened for consumption needs an excess of carbohydrates and fats, (cheap fat-forming nutrients), and only enough protein to repair body waste and supplying sufficient extra material to lay on some new meaty tissue to mix with the fat, or a wide nautritive ratio of 1:5.2.

For the farmer's general purposes the laying hen is of most importance. The dry matter of the eggs consists of approximately 13 per cent protein, 11 per cent fat, and 66 per cent of carbohydrates indicating that a good egg ration needs to contain a larger supply of heat and energy forming nutrients than of flesh-forming materials. Therefore I quote, as an erample, a tried and true ration whose total nutrients conform to the nutritive ration of 1:4.6, and whose formula is:

10 Pounds Wheat.
10 Pounds Barley or Oats.
10 Pounds Cracked Corn.
5 Pounds Bran.
5 Pounds Middlings.
3 Pounds Meatscraps.
2 Pounds Linseed Oil Meat.
5 Pounds Charcoal.
Salt to season.

From this ration you will see that variety is surely the spice of life for poultry. A ration consisting of a number of different feeds mixed together is relished by the fowls because it tickles their slates. Just as humans, they will do much better on a tasty mixture because the very fact that a food is pleasant to the taste stimulates a more copious secretion of digestive juices and thus a more thorough digestion. Yes, we must have variety, but it is not advisable to change the ration from day to day or week to week in order to secure this, because such continual cuanging keeps the hen's digestive organs continually stirred up. Continual changing of a ration necessitates a new adjustment every time a new kind of feed is eaten, and this readjustment naturally lowers efficiency.

In a following article we shall discuss rations and what they should accomplish.

NEW BOOKS AT THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

The following books have been added to the Library this week.

Books About the War.

Bernhardi—Germany and the Next War.

Cramb—Germany and England with an introduction by Joseph H. Choate. An answer to Bernhardi. Lord Roberts writes, "I hope that every one who wishes to understand present crisis will read this book.. Nowhere else are the forces which led to the war so clearly set forth."

Carnegie Endowment for International Peace—Report of the International Commission to inquire into the Causes and Conduct of the Balkan wars.

Wile—Men Around the Kaiser. A German corresondent for the New York Times here writes an appreciation of over thirty men prominent in finance, commerce politics and fine art—men who with the Kaiser have been the making of Germany. Interesting to the general public. Illustrated with portraits.

Literature and Art.

Olcott—The Children's Reading. Miss Olcott who for many years was the head of the Children's Department at the Carnegie Library, Pittsburgh has had wide experience in deciding what books are best suited to children of all ages and in various social conditions of life.

Speaker vol. 2 and 3. Contain good material for readings, some selections humorous, some dramatic, some convincing oratory.

Wornum—Epochs of Painting. Gift.

Rent Fiction.

Ferber—Personality Plus. "Emma McChesney's young son goes out into the world to seek his fortune in the advertising business. His learning of many things, among others a true appreciation of what his mother has done for him, entertains the reader and also gies an interesting view of advertising methods."

Lee—Woman in the Alcove. "A slight but convincing story of a beauty-loving woman who has a too thrifty husband, rather blind to the fact that he has taken most of the joy from her life. By an accident he discovers her need and his own desire to satisfy it, through which he comes to a real understanding which brings contentment to both."

Ward—Delia Blanchflower. Interesting but not equal to Mrs. Humphrey Ward's best books. Delai Blanchflower is a beautiful eager very wealthy young woman who is absolutely under the influence of a misguided but influential militant suffragist. Delia's guardian who becomes her lover as well almost despairs of making her see the selfishness and positive harm of her principles, when a terrible fire, which is tarted by her leader and in which she loses her life makes Delia realize that some of the old ways are best after all.

IS ARRESTED ON CHARGE OF BURGLARY AND LARCENY

James Leake is Released on Bond for Appearance in Squire Dyer's Court November 23.

James Leake of the Crackers Bend neighborhood, was released on bond Friday for his appearance in Squire Dyer's court Monday morning, November 23, at 9 o'clock to answer a charge of burglary and larceny. The complaint was made by Walter Braner of the same neighborhood.

It seems that sometime last spring a coon dog owned by Mr. Leake strayed from home and went to Walter Braner's home, near Grace Chapel. Mr. Braner says that he sent word to Mr. Leake regarding the dog but that the owner did not come after the animal. Mr. Leake claims that when he went to the Braner home for the dog about three weeks ago Mr. Braner refused to give the animal to him, unless he paid $5 for keeping it. This was refused and the dog was chained and locked in Mr. Braner's smokehouse. On the night of November 10 someone broke into the smokehouse, took the dog, chain and lock. It was charged that the dog was seen in the possession of Mr. Leake while out coon hunting that he went coon hunting. The is-November 11, but Mr. Leake denies suance of the warrant resulted.

CALIFORNIA'S "FARMER BOYS" END TOUR.

Oakland, Calif., Nov. 13.—The carload of "farmer boys" which California sent to Washington and Atlanta, arrived home today, bringing the congratulations of Secreary Houston of the Department of Agriculture to the clubs of boys and girls who are booming the "back to the farm" movement here.

The transcontinental tour of the boys is the first of its kind, and otehr states are planning to take up the idea. The lucky boys were the prize winners in the agricultural clubs, and their tour was entirely satisfactory as an opportunity to study agricultural conditions across the country.

While in Washington, the boys met Secretary Houston, who praised highly the interest which is being taken in the agricultural clubs by the boys and girls of America. Following the reception, they inspected the various branches of the government's big department of agriculture. They then visited Atlanta and other cities on their way home. Prof. B. H. Crocheron of the extension department of the College of Agriculture, University of California, had charge of the party.

TANDY TALKS TO TEACHERS.

"How to Teach Geography" was the theme of an interesting address to the teachers of the city schools by Oren E. Tandy, Friday afternoon, at 3 o'clock. He presented the entire subject in a most logical manner, pointing out the good features of the texts which have just been put into the schools. Using South America as an illustration he showed how the various physiolographic factors, such as size and position of continents, coast line and surface, climate, flora and fauna, have a determining influence on civilization.

At the close of his talk Mr. Tandy conducted an informal quiz on the subject matter just covered. The readiness of the answers received spoke well for his method of presenting the geographical facts in question.

WICKERSHAM ADDRESSES CHICAGO ASSOCIATION

PLEADS FOR HIGH ETHICAL STANDARD OF LEGAL PROFESSION.

President of Association of Bar of New York Credits Organization With Having Cleansed the New York Bench of Corrupt Judges, Who were Tools of the Tweed Ring.

Chicago, Illinois, November 13.—A plea for the maintenance of the highest ethical standard of the legal profession was made here tonight by Former Attorney General George W. Wickersham, president of the Association of the bar of the city of New York at a dinner given by the Chicago bar association. He suggested that the American method of examination by the courts or boards for admission to the bar is a memory test rather than a trial to determine the thoroughness of the candidates' qualifications. Bar associations he said might do much to amend this situation.

The speaker professed a liking for and a belief in the old family lawyer who was friend of his client, whose training was at a disposal of the latter, who drew the last will and who faithfully became its executor and who in his friendly way often interposed to prevent domestic injustice. The old order has changed to a degree, it appeared in the address when the guest of the evening said:

"Nothing could better illustrate the change which modern civilization has wrought in the attitude of the public toward the lawyer, than such an advertisement (that of a title and trust company seeking business as trustee of wills) exhibited in hundreds of cars to thousand of readers, no doubt with great profit to the incorporated trustee.

"What is to become of the old-time relation of mutual confidence and esteem between counsel and client, if the most sacred and solemn facts of life shall be dealt in as merchandise and formulated by the employees of incorporated commercial companies, instead of by the trusted adviser and friend of a lifetime, the repositors of family secrets the moderator of asperites, the harmonizer of difficulties, the wise guide who restrains the angry parent or the jealous husband from irreparable acts of injustice and from testamentary declarations which may constitute legacies of hate. Only the bar itself can prevent the immeasurable loss to civilization which would follow the debasement of its true functions to a merely mercantile basis."

Mr. Wickersham sketched the value of organizations of lawyers and credited the association of which he is president with having cleansed the New York bench of the corrupt judges who were tools of the Tweed ring. In the course of this phase of the address the laymen present learned that the English "inns of court" is not a sort of musty old office building or collection of inns but a number of incorporated associations which control admission to the bar and discipline to their own members

MORTUARY

Stacy.

Miss Sarah M. Stacy passed quietly away at her home on South Clay avenue Friday afternoon at 5 o'clock after a lingering illness following apoplexy. She suffered her first stroke early in March and was taken worse for the last time about two weeks since.

Miss Stacy was the sixth daughter of Mathew and Sarah W. Stacy and was born and reared in the city. She received her education at the Illinois Woman's College. A life long member of the Methodist Episcopal church, she has been always active in religious work and for many years she did willing service in the Sunday school of Brooklyn M. E. church. Her life was an inspiration to many and she was always ready with a word of cheer or helpful counsel.

Miss Stacy is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Hannah E. Ferguson of Kansas City, Mo., and Miss Joanna Stacy, who resides at the family homestead, as does also her grandnephew, George Stacy. Among the other relatives surviving is Mrs. Nathan R. Jerald of Springfield, a niece, who previous to her marriage made her home in Jacksonville and was taken care of by the deceased.

The funeral will be held from the family residence, 1106 South Clay avenue, Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and interment will be made in Diamond Grove cemetery. Services will be in charge of the Rev. W. W Theobold and the Rev. F. A. McCarty.

Scott.

Jewell Scott and others in Jacksonville have received information of the recent death of Ray Scott in California, following a long siege of malarial fever. The remains were brought to the young man's former nome in Nevada, Mo. Mr. Scott about six years ago was a resident of this city and was employed as bookkeeper for Swift & Company.

Music was furnished by a quartet composed of John Paschall, Edward Peck, Eugene Peck and Bert Peck. The flowers were cared for by Miss Mary Savage and Mrs. Katherine Rekamp. Interment was made in the Walnut Ridge cemetery and the bearers were George Tritch, Abner Schafter, William Roegge, Howard, Turley, John Potter, Nelson Woodward, Robert Knight and Henry Pratt.

Mr. Springer was born November 29, 1854, and passed away at Passavant hospital, after having undergone an operation on one of his legs. He married Miss Mary Frances Beard, Dec. 20, 1877 and they were the parents of one son, Jonathan Lee, who with the widow and daughter-in-law, Etta Kirchner Springer, survive. Mr. Springer had spent his entire life in the Monroe community, and was highly regarded by all who knew him.

Pike.

Funeral services for Thomas E. Pike were held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Reynolds undertaking establishment in charge of Rev. Charles T. Caywood. Music was furnished by Miss Cora Graham, Mrs. Wallace Brockman and T. H. Rapp. Interment was made in Jacksonville cemetery.

RAILROAD PROBLEMS DISCUSSED

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 13.—Bankers, economists, business men and lawyers met here in convention today for a discussion of the problems of American railways. It was the annual meeting of the Western Economic society, and nearly all of the 500 members were present to hear President E. P. Ripley of the Santa Fe, who spoke on his recent suggestion that railway control by a regional group system, with government representation, was a way out of the present chaotic conditions governing railroad matters.

The proposed increase in freight rates is another subject of great importance which is set for discussion.

QUINCY PREPARES FOR JACKSONVILLE

HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL TEAMS WILL CLASH TODAY.

Adams County Capital Lads are Making Special Plans to Capture Game Today from J. H. S. Eleven —Crowds will Remain for Evening Reception.

Quincy has been making great preparations for the game today against Jacksonville, to be played at Quincy. Likewise Coach Buland has been sending his men through a stiff drill and will leave no stone unturned to show the Adams county boys just how the trick is turned.

The Quincy Herald says: "The blue and white football eleven is busy preparing for its big clash with Jacksonville high school Saturday afternoon at League park. The championship of western Illinois hinges upon this game and the local lads are working hard. Twenty-four players report for squad practice every night and the team is showing better football than at any time thus far this season. Coach Lineberger and Capt. Bob Grieser have evolved a number of new formations they expect to uncork against Jacksonville."

The Jacksonville team will leave this morning over the Wabash and will not return until Sunday as the school management at Quincy has planned to give a banquet in honor of the J. H. S. men Saturday night.

Jacksonville's lineup follows: Boxell, re; Meyer, rt; Reynolds, rg; Kerring, c; Robinson, lg; Strawn, lt; Pyatt, le; Reynolds, R, qb; Maddox, rhb; Pyatt, lhb; Killibrew, fb. Subs: Thompson, Smith and C. Strawn. Lashmet will go along as one of the officials.

HANSEL WILSON OUT OF GAME AGAINST LOMBARD

Illinois College Team Will be Minus Fast Back Field Man Who Underwent Operation at Passavant Hospital.

Coach Harmon and his band of Illinois college football players left last evening for Abingdon where they will play Lombard this afternoon, in what promises to be the crucial game of the season for Illinois. The fact that Millikin tied with Wesleyan yesterday afternoon at Bloomington puts Millikin practically out of the running, and will especially put her behind Illinois if Illinois can win the game this afternoon against the fast Lombard eleven.

Coach Harmon will make the trip without the help of Hansel Wilson, the fast half back man. Wilson underwent an operation for mastoiditis at Passavant hospital Wednesday. It is probable that he will not be able to play any more this season.

Lombard has been strengthening their team and with a good string of second players they hope to annex the contest. Lombard has defeated Wesleyan, Millikin, but lost to William and Vashti. The Illinois men will not be able to return home before Sunday.

CONFISCATED FISH GIVEN TO STATE INST.

Deputy Game and Fish Warden John Connor of Mt. Sterling, recently confiscated 900 pounds of fish and after looking into the law carefully turned the fish over to the state institutions here, the School for the Deaf getting 350 pounds and the Jacksonville hospital 550 pounds.

The shipment of fish was taken from an express train on the C. B. & Q between Beardstown and White Hall, and after some little detective work the shippers were arrested at Beardstown. The law breakers will have their trial either at Virginia or Rushville.
